12th International Congress of Historical Sciences in Vienna, 29 Aug to 5 Sep 196

A. Contacted by our Sources:

1. DUBYNA Kuzma Kindratyevich of Kiev, wul. Kirova # 4, Institute of History, Academy of Sciences, Ukr SSR, aged 55-60, Ukrainian, party member, Director of the Institute of History, Acad Scienc, Ukr SSR, co-editor of Komunist Ukrayiny, in charge of the Department of History of CPSU, Candidate of Historical Sciences, Chairman of the Organizational Committee of Voluntary Society for Preservation of Historical and Cultural Monuments of Ukr SSR, Soviet partizan during WW II, co-author of some parts on history of Ukrainian CP and author of a book on Soviet partizan war.

DUBYNA behaved quite freely, gladly met with our contacts and went to dinner with them. He wore good cloth and was quite elegant in his appearance. Though mostly he stuck to official party-line tried to give his opinions a more personal and intimate tinge.

He took part at the session on History of "resistance in Europe and read a paper on Soviet Ukrainian partizans. Among other things, he claimed that the number of Ukrainian Soviet partizans was larger than 350,000 and also pointed out at the participation of Ukrainians in the French Resistance in WW II.

DUBYNA claimed to know personally Prof OHLOBLYN and Prof POLONSKA - VASYLENKO and asked about their present whereabouts and work. He knew them from "old times" in Ukraine, prior to WW II.

Topics discussed (excerpts) a/ According to DUBYNA there was no planned official Russification of Ukraine but only a voluntary one. To Zed he said that Russification has been actually stopped and things are improving "tremendously". He denied also there were any conflicts between Russians and non-Russians at the Moscow Historical Congress of 1962.

The inadequate status of Ukrainian affairs in the Soviet Union, the problem of Ukrainian sovereignty, the question of partnership, Ukrainian army, stamps etc. - depended to a ver. great extent on Ukrainians themselves. Allegedly these problems were discussed recently in Kiev on highest levels and his impression was that many things in this respect could be improved. Again, much depended on adequate initiative of Ukrainians themselves.

b/ The status of Historical Sciences in the Ukraine is not satisfactory but the responsibility for it lies on Ukrainians, i.e. on lack of proper initiative. ~~Recently~~ <sup>Now</sup> those matters are improving, just now two sociological institutes are to be established in the Ukraine. Also a Ukrainian Philosophical journal is going to be published soon in Kiev. c/ The arson in the Kiev Library of May 1964 was a personal vengeance of Pogruzhalsky though Dubyna does not exclude some other motives as well. To Zed: "there two versions, one that it was done by a mad man, and there is a different one". What was the "different one" he refused to elaborate.

Dubyna took gladly books given to him by Sources:

The Soviet Second Republic by Y. Bilinsky

Ludy Staroji Ukrayny by Ohloblyn

UVAN Annals ( with Ohloblyn)

Andrey Voynarovskiy by Vynar

2 books on literature by Koshelivets L.

Vyvia Prav Ukrayny

Dokumenty Ukrainskoho Komunizmu

2 issues of Suchapsnist

and other Prolog publications.

3. NECHKINA V.N. of Moscow, Russian, aged approx. 65, 5'5, read a paper on methodology in history and was afterwards attacked by one of our Sources. Reacted weakly, was quite confused and complained to the other Source of ours that "he (our man) had not read all her works and was mistaken". She knew no one from Kiev, asked why materials burned in Kiev library had not been published replied "because they were probably of no value", and otherwise stuck to official party line.

4. HALUSHKA, fmu, Docent of Lviv University, was introduced to our people but did not go beyond a few pleasantries and generalities. On the whole avoided our group.
